Foreword

Welcome to our refreshed 'thresholds/ levels of need' document which is set within the context of the Local Safeguarding Children Board (LSCB) Business plan.

The document and associated guidance is required by Working Together to Safeguard Children 2015 which also emphasises the importance of "early help".

Our vision is that children are safe, families are supported and lives are transformed. This is about providing help to all children and families through access to strong universal provision - these are services which are available to everyone. The aim is to provide help at the earliest point and lowest "level" of service provision so that help is provided quickly and children and families get the help they need to become independent of services.

Our threshold offer relies upon a workforce where staff from across all agencies share the core values, knowledge, skills and abilities to engage well with children and families by building relationships which are based on the strengths within a family. They also need to be focussed on solutions, able to motivate to achieve positive change and be aware of risk and protective factors. We know that by working effectively together we can identify vulnerable children early to ensure that we keep them safe, support their families and transform their lives.

1. Introduction

- 1.1. All children, young people and their families have basic needs that are provided through universal services. These include education, early years, health, youth services, leisure facilities, and the many services provided by voluntary organisations. However; some children, young people and their families have additional needs requiring support by Targeted and Statutory Social Work Services.
- 1.2. Working Together to Safeguard Children (Department for Education 2015) makes it clear that safeguarding children and promoting their welfare is the responsibility of all professionals working with children and that they should understand the criteria for taking action across a continuum of need if required.
- 1.3. This will include protecting children from maltreatment; ensuring that children grow up in circumstances consistent with safe and effective care; taking action to prevent impairment of children's health and development and taking action to ensure children achieve the best outcomes. The voice of the child and their wishes and feelings must be ascertained and recorded where possible and due consideration given to them, having regard to his/her age and understanding.
- 1.4. This Threshold Document sets out four levels of need and provides guidance to individuals, agencies and staff to help them to identify a child's level of need and determine whether additional services are required. It is not a rigid set of procedures; every child is unique and their needs will change over time. Professionals should seek advice from the safeguarding lead from within their own organisations. If required they can seek guidance through the local Community Operating Group (COG) or Single Point of Contact (SPOC) within the Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH).
- 1.5. Where an alleged perpetrator of abuse either works or volunteers with children, a referral should also be made to the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO). A Partnership Referral form can be accessed from the SSCB website online or the LADO can be contacted on 0121 569 4770.
- 1.6. If a child is in imminent danger and at risk of significant harm and therefore reporting concerns cannot wait an hour while a multi-agency referral form (MARF) is completed, the professional should call 999 for the Police or an Ambulance and also contact Sandwell Children's Social Care by telephoning the Single Point of Contact within the MASH on 0121 569 3100 (24 hours). The referrer will also be expected to complete a MARF without delay.

2. Principles and definitions

2.1. Appendix 3 of this document - the Thresholds Matrix - provides illustrative examples about how need might present itself, rather than an exhaustive list of fixed criteria that must be met. The level of need will be increased where there is a multiplicity of factors and professional judgement will always be required.

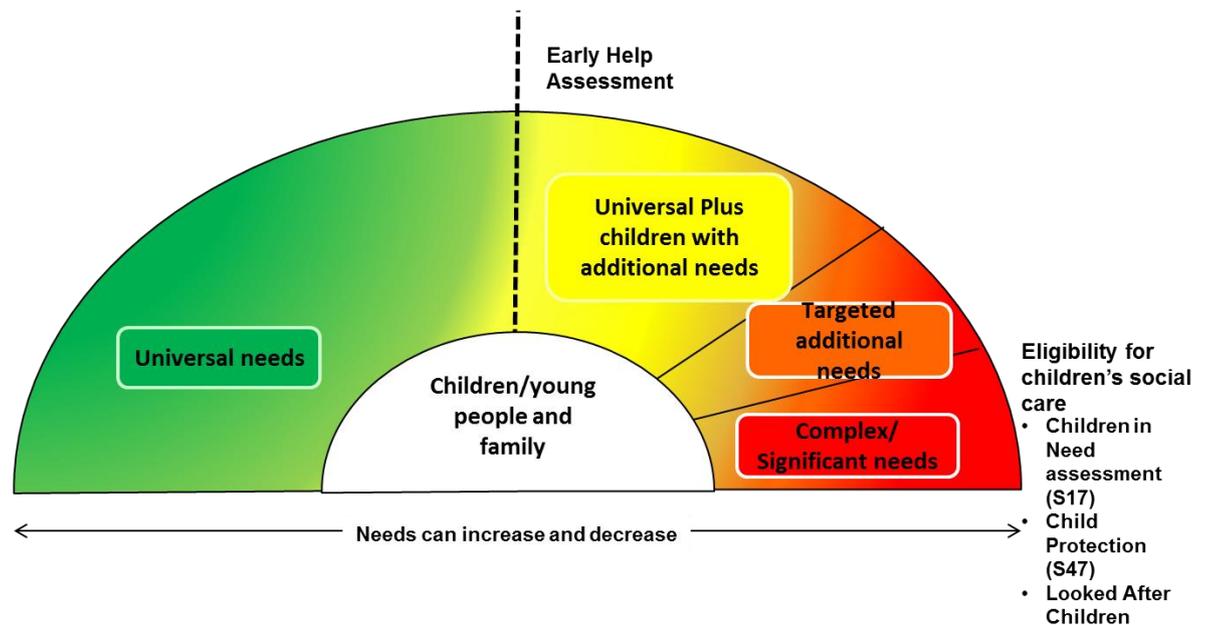

2.2. The following principles should be considered in applying the framework:

- A child is anyone who has not reached their 18th birthday including unborn children (Children Act 1989)
- All children have the right to grow up safe from harm and to reach their potential.
- Children are best supported and protected when additional needs are identified early and the support is provided in a timely manner and commensurate to these needs.
- The Children Act (2004) encourages agencies where ever possible, to work in partnership with families and to make onward referrals with their consent. If the practitioner believes that the child may be at risk of significant harm and that consent may place the child at further risk they should take advice from their Safeguarding Lead and clearly state at the point of referral, why consent has not been sought.
- Support should be delivered at the lowest appropriate level to meet the child's needs thus preventing the need for escalation to more specialist services.
- Support should be based on assessment and intervention delivered through a clear plan of work which is regularly reviewed. This may include the completion of an Early Help Assessment (EHA) and the creation of a Team Around the Child/Family (TAC/F).
- Work must be child focussed and care taken to ensure that children/parents/carers/agencies understand the plan, how this will be delivered and their role in implementing the plan.
- Children with disabilities may have additional needs related to their communication / mobility and depend on others for their basic care needs to be met, which can increase their vulnerability.

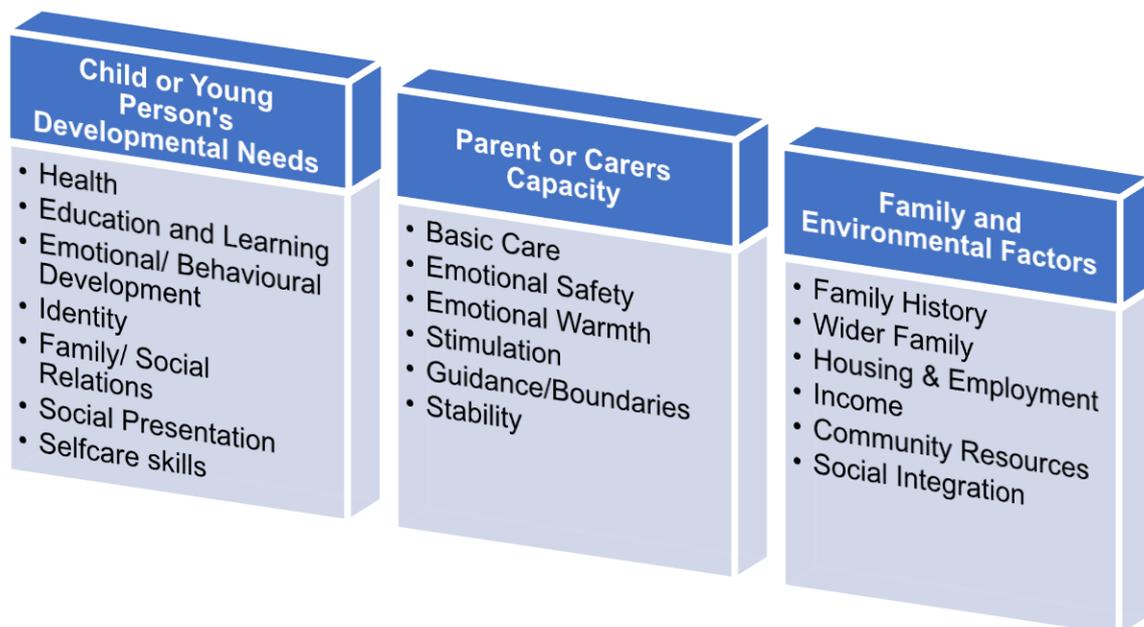

- 2.3. The term Lead Professional is used within the Framework to mean someone who takes the lead to co-ordinate provision and be a single point of contact for a child and their family. When a range of services are involved with the child or family, an integrated response is required.
- 2.4. Targeted Support is an approach to working with children and families who are below the threshold of social care intervention, but require a multi-agency approach that stops problems escalating and supports families to improve their situation.
- 2.5. Signs of Safety (SoS) is Sandwell Children's Services chosen approach of intervention with children, young people and their families. It is designed to integrate professional and family knowledge in the assessment of risk and any subsequent planning.

3. Levels of intervention and need

- 3.1. Children and families are supported most effectively and efficiently when services and information sharing are planned and delivered in a co-ordinated way.
- 3.2. By working together agencies can significantly improve outcomes for children and families. Evidence shows that a multi-agency approach is needed to identify vulnerable families early and effectively. Many of the risk factors that are typically seen as the business of one agency can also be supported by other service providers.
- 3.3. Sandwell Safeguarding Children Board has adopted a common approach to describing the levels of need and the intervention that may be required by children, young people and their families. These form a continuum as detailed in Figure 1 below

- 3.4. These four levels of intervention - Universal; Universal Plus; Targeted Additional Needs; Complex/Significant Needs - have been developed into a matrix of 'indicators of needs and risks' to help describe the circumstances in which an Early Help Assessment should be considered and when a referral to Children's Social Care may be necessary alongside a range of universal services.
- 3.5. The indicators of need for each level of intervention are split into three sections (see Appendix 2):

How to use the Matrix

- Capture the concerns you have for the child or young person, using the three headings as a guide.
- Review the tables in Appendix 3 - Thresholds Matrix to establish the level of need for the child or young person.
- Refer to the process map in Appendix 4 to establish the process for accessing support for the child, young person and their family.

Which level of need?

- 3.6. The list of indicators contained in this document is not exhaustive and is guidance. In assessing need and risk that require specialist services, multiple factors are likely to be present and decisions as to whether the criteria are met remain a professional judgement. It is also important to remember that the signs that a child or young person has particular needs are often not found in a single piece of evidence but in a combination of factors or indicators.
- 3.7. The model is intended to ensure the early identification of children and families who require additional help. It aims to prevent children moving towards higher levels of need and to reduce the level of need wherever possible.

- 3.8. The boundaries between the levels are not hard and fast and children may present with needs at different levels. Inter-disciplinary discussion and co-ordination will ensure appropriate services are arranged.
- 3.9. It is acknowledged that children may move up and down from one level to another and that agencies (including universal services) will offer support at more than one level. Although a professional may refer a family for a more targeted service, it is expected that the professional will still engage with the family during assessment and are likely to continue to have a role in TAF meetings.
- 3.10. Support is available with the decision-making process. All agencies will have a safeguarding lead that will usually be part of the threshold discussion. Professionals should not delay referral of urgent matters due to the unavailability of their safeguarding lead.
- 3.11. Advice is also available from your local COG who hold a weekly meeting in each locality. They provide an opportunity to discuss the co-ordination of support to families where the TAF process is not securing the right outcomes and where there is chronic and escalating need. Professionals from any agency can access the COG to seek further advice and support. Where appropriate a decision can be made in the meeting to escalate the case to Children's Social Care. Parental consent for a case to be discussed must be obtained wherever possible in line with established information sharing protocols (Information Sharing: Advice for practitioners providing safeguarding services (March 2015, Department for Education) and Sandwell's Information Sharing Protocol, Guidance on Making a Referral, Information Sharing and Seeking Parental Consent which can be found on the SSCB website).
- 3.12. Where children have an identified lead professional or allocated social worker; any concerns should be discussed with them (or their manager) in the first instance. A Multi-Agency Referral Form (MARF) would not be required.
- 3.13. Following guidance from the designated safeguarding lead within their agency, if a child protection concern is identified, a referral to Sandwell Children's Social Care should be made. The referrer is required to complete a MARF and submit it within 1 hour.

4. Accessing support for children and families

- 4.1. Once the practitioner has used the Threshold matrix (Appendix 3) they should determine the best course of action be that:
- Continue provision through universal services (level 1).
 - Record and monitor Early Help Notes (level 1 & 2).
 - Complete an Early Help Assessment (level 2 & 3)
 - Refer to children's social care by completing a MARF (level 4).
- 4.2. Levels 1 and 2 indicate the circumstances in which partner agencies are expected to intervene and provide support to a child and family in order to prevent the need for a specialist service. Levels three and four identify the point at which Sandwell MBC Targeted Services and Children's Social Care will become involved. In all cases consent from the person with parental responsibility should be sought unless this places the child at further risk of immediate harm.
- 4.3. If a professional is unclear about whether to complete an Early Help Assessment (EHA) or MARF they should in the first instance consult the designated Safeguarding Lead within their agency. If the designated lead is not available, then advice from a qualified social worker can be obtained as follows:
- 4.4. Non-urgent advice is currently available from the Social Worker within the local COG (see Appendix 1).
- 4.5. When an EHA identifies that multi-agency support is required to meet the needs of the child and family then this team becomes the TAF and is responsible for developing and implementing the plan for the child. The parent/carer and TAF agree who is best placed to become the Lead Professional - this may not always be the professional who has completed the Early Help Assessment. The Lead Professional will co-ordinate the plan and ensure that regular TAF meetings are held.
- 4.6. Urgent advice - Where children are not known to Children's Social Care and urgent advice is needed by the agencies safeguarding lead, the Single Point of Contact (SPOC) can be contacted by telephoning 0121 569 3100.
- 4.7. All children receiving a service from Children's Social Care will have a plan in place, which will be a Child Protection Plan, Child in Need Plan, Looked After Children (LAC) Care Plan or a Pathway Plan. Children who require targeted support will receive support via a TAF plan.

Child Protection Referral: Emergency

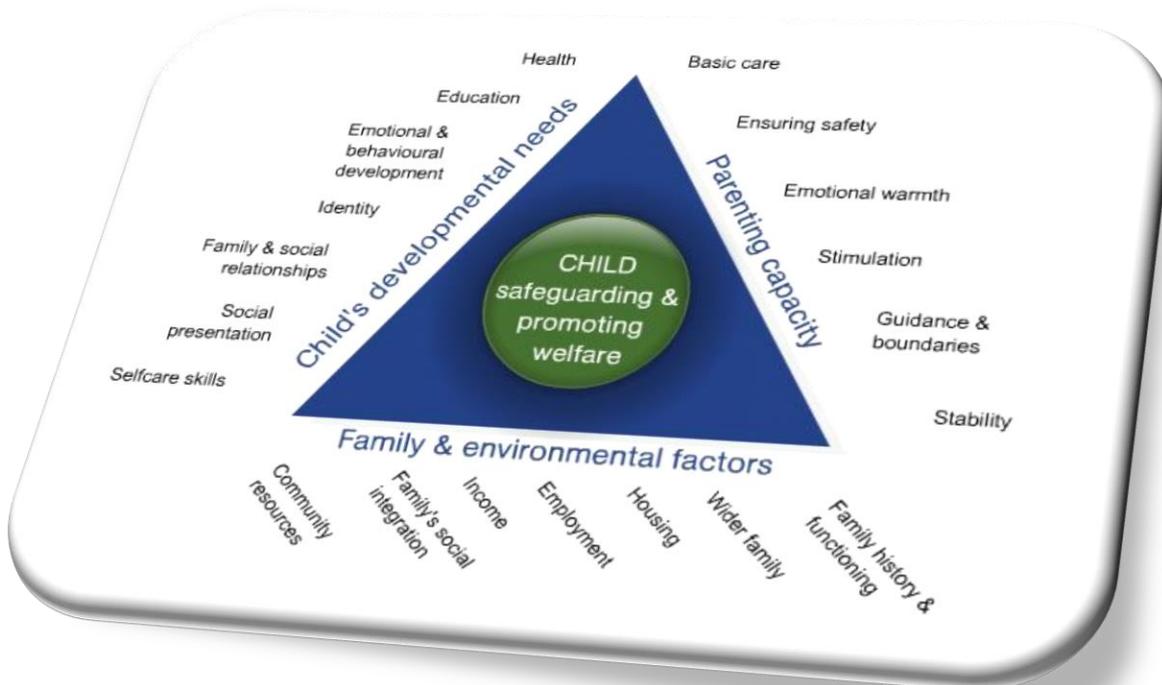

If a child is in imminent danger and at risk of significant harm and therefore reporting concerns cannot wait an hour while a MARF is completed, a professional should call 999 in the first instance for Police or an Ambulance and contacting Children's Social Care by telephoning the Single Point of Contact within the MASH on 0121 569 3100. They will also be expected to complete a MARF without delay. For calls outside of working hours the Emergency Duty Service (EDS) can be contacted on 0121 569 3100.

Child Protection Referral: Non-Emergency

If there is no immediate danger but the child has met the threshold for involvement from Children's Social Care, the professional should complete and submit a MARF within 1 hour. They will not be required to telephone Children's Social Care to inform them of the referral (unless a disclosure has been made and the child is due to leave the service/ provision) but it is vital that the referrer is available to discuss the referral. The MARF and guidance on completing a MARF can be found at <https://www.sandwellcsp.org.uk>

MARFs should be sent by secure email to access_team@sandwellchildrenstrust.org with the subject title MARF. For those agencies that do not have secure email, password protect the MARF before sending and forward a further email with the password details.

Appendix 2: The framework for the assessment of children in need and their families

- 1.1. The Framework for the Assessment of Children in Need and their Families (assessment triangle) is a visual tool to assist in the assessment of three domains - Child's developmental needs; Parenting capacity; Family & environmental factors. Each of these domains are represented by a side of the assessment triangle and correspond to the three domains used in the Threshold Matrix (Appendix 3). Assessments should take account of all three domains and how these impact on the child and their development.
- 1.2. The Framework provides a systematic basis for collecting and analysing information to support professional judgements about how to help children and families in the best interests of the child. Practitioners should use the framework to gain an understanding of a child's developmental needs; the capacity of parents or caregivers to respond appropriately to those needs, including their capacity to keep the child safe from harm; and the impact of wider family and environmental factors on the parents and child. The complex interplay of factors across all three domains should be carefully understood and analysed. Its purpose is to identify the child's and other family members' needs and agree on the desired outcome of any involvement.

Children with no additional needs and where there are no concerns. Typically, these children are likely to live in a resilient and protective environment where their needs are met. These children will require no additional support beyond that which is universally available. These indicators need to be kept in mind when assessing the significance of indicators from Universal Plus; Targeted Additional Needs; Complex/Significant Needs.	These children can be defined as needing some additional support without which they would be at risk of not meeting their full potential. Their identified needs may relate to their health, educational, or social development, and are likely to be short term needs. If ignored these issues may develop into more worrying concerns for the child or young person. These children will be living in greater adversity than most other children or have a greater degree of vulnerability than most if their needs are not clear, not known or not being met and multi-agency intervention is required, a lead professional may be identified to coordinate a plan around the child.	This Level applies to those children identified as requiring specialist support. It is likely that for these children their needs and care are compromised. Only a small fraction of children will fall within this band. These children will be those who vulnerable or experiencing the greatest level of adversity. Children with additional needs: These children may be eligible for services from The Local COG Team / Children's Social Care and are potentially at risk of developing acute/ complex needs if they do not receive early statutory intervention. If a social worker is allocated they will usually act as the lead professionals and coordinate services.	These are children whose needs and care at the present time are likely to be significantly compromised thereby requiring assessment under Section 47 (may be suffering or likely to suffer significant harm) or Section 17 (Child in Need) of the Children Act 1989. These children may become subject to a child protection plan and need to be accommodated (taken into care) by Children's Social Care either on a voluntary basis or by way of Court Order. Section 17-1989 Children Act states a child shall be taken to be in need if: (a) He is unlikely to achieve or maintain, or to have the opportunity of achieving or maintaining, a reasonable standard of health or development without the provision for him of services by a local authority under this Part; (b) His health or development is likely to be significantly impaired, or further impaired, without the provision for him of such services; or (c) He is disabled.

Their identified needs may relate to their health, educational, or social development, and are likely to be short term needs. If ignored these issues may develop into more worrying concerns for the child or young person. These children will be living in greater adversity than most other children or have a greater degree of vulnerability than most if their needs are not clear, not known or not being met and multi-agency intervention is required, a lead professional may be identified to coordinate a plan around the child.	This Level applies to those children identified as requiring specialist support. It is likely that for these children their needs and care are compromised. Only a small fraction of children will fall within this band. These children will be those who vulnerable or experiencing the greatest level of adversity. Children with additional needs: These children may be eligible for services from The Local COG Team / Children's Social Care and are potentially at risk of developing acute/ complex needs if they do not receive early statutory intervention. If a social worker is allocated they will usually act as the lead professionals and coordinate services.	These are children whose needs and care at the present time are likely to be significantly compromised thereby requiring assessment under Section 47 (may be suffering or likely to suffer significant harm) or Section 17 (Child in Need) of the Children Act 1989. These children may become subject to a child protection plan and need to be accommodated (taken into care) by Children's Social Care either on a voluntary basis or by way of Court Order. Section 17-1989 Children Act states a child shall be taken to be in need if: (a) He is unlikely to achieve or maintain, or to have the opportunity of achieving or maintaining, a reasonable standard of health or development without the provision for him of services by a local authority under this Part; (b) His health or development is likely to be significantly impaired, or further impaired, without the provision for him of such services; or (c) He is disabled.

These children require no additional support beyond that which is universally available. An Early Help Assessment is not needed for these children. If a child's needs have been identified & can be met by the agency with the concern an Early Help Note should be used to capture & record needs. These should be logged on the Early Help System & be regularly reviewed, at least 6 weekly, by the agency completing them.	In these circumstances an Early Help Note should be completed to capture and record needs. A MARF must be completed and submitted within one hour. If a child is at imminent significant risk of harm/immediate danger (and reporting concerns cannot wait an hour while a MARF is completed) the referrer should call 999 for the Police or an Ambulance and also contact Sandwell Children's Social Care by telephoning the Contact Centre on 0121 569 3100 (24 hours). All MARFs will be screened by a qualified children's social care social worker who in conjunction with the Team Manager will assess whether the referral reaches the threshold to be considered by the multi-agency safeguarding hub (MASH). They will decide what course of action needs to be taken whether that be: strategy discussion; section 47 investigation; single assessment; step down to targeted services, single agency support or no further action.

Appendix 5: What makes a good referral – a guide for professionals

- 1.1. Whether making a referral for targeted services or completing the multi- agency referral form (MARF) the details of the referral make a difference to the timeliness of our intervention and the quality of our work with children, young people and their families. Guidance is also available on the Sandwell Safeguarding Children Board website (<https://www.sandwellcsp.org.uk>).
- 1.2. When you have completed your referral, it may help for you to ask yourself the following questions:
- 1. Does the person with parental responsibility know that I am concerned about their child and that I am making a referral? Have they consented to the referral being made?

Why? The 2004 Children Act is clear that consent should be sought wherever possible. In some cases, you will have concerns that a child is at risk of significant harm and parental consent is not forthcoming. In these cases, you should state on the referral what action you have taken to try to gain consent. In some rare cases your professional view will be that seeking consent will increase the risk to the child. This may include the risk of forced marriage or female genital mutilation. In these cases, state, clearly on the referral form why you have not sought consent.
 - 2. Have I included all the personal details I have about the child / young person and their family?

Why? These details including DOB/ethnicity/telephone numbers/up to date address/ language and a family composition mean that the child's records can be accessed quickly and that any intervention can be provided in a timely way. Phone numbers mean that families can be contacted quickly. Where English is not a first language details will allow the provision of an interpreter.
 - 3. Have I included details about any other professionals working with the family?

Why? Knowing these details, especially if there has been a TAF, will ensure that their knowledge and skills be part of the assessment and intervention.
 - 4. Have I made it as clear as possible what I am concerned about?

Why? Making it clear what you are concerned about helps Sandwell Children's Services in their decision making. Sometimes you may not be absolutely certain about what is happening for the child/ young person. In these cases, provide as much detail as possible. Remember that you have professional expertise and will be up to date with research and practise in your field of work. Try to reduce the use of jargon and provide some analysis. For example: as a health professional, you may be concerned about failed appointments or concealed pregnancy; as a teacher, you may be concerned that a child's changed behaviour and demeanour is effecting their learning. Setting out what this means for the child and the impact on their development will ensure that the assessing social worker or targeted practitioner (who will not have the same level of expertise in your area) understands your perspective and can include this analysis in their assessment.

5. Have I made it clear what I have done already and what worked or didn't work?

Why? Research tells us that we sometimes 'start again' with families. This is especially the case where there is chronic neglect or with families who appear compliant with plans but fail to either follow through with work or fail to sustain change. Knowing what has been worked well enables targeted and social work services to build on success; knowing what has failed to sustain change ensures that this can be explored and other solutions sought.

6. Have I made sure that I will be available for further discussion about the referral and how I can be contacted?

Why? As the referrer, you are the person with the most up to date knowledge of the child/ young person and we want you to be involved in our decision making and intervention. We aim to make a decision on every referral within 24 hours. If you cannot be available, please provide the name and contact details of someone familiar with the child and your concerns who can act for you. You will receive feedback on your referral.
